Microsoft is one of the best companies in US history and one of the companies that has done the most for consumers. The bitterness with which the government is harassing Microsoft is inexcusable. The local phone companies are a true monopoly: they treat consumers like dogs and use all their might to crush competitors. They are so confident the government is looking the other way they don't even try to hide. What does the government do to protect consumers and competition from the local phone companies? ABSOLUTELY NOTHING. Instead they are bent on destroying one of the best assets this country has ever created. Shame on you.
